

---

Contents

---

List of figures	vii
List of tables	viii
List of contributors	ix
Acknowledgements	xiii
PART I INTRODUCTION
1 New directions in comparative criminal justice David Nelken and Claire Hamilton	2
PART II THE COMPARATIVE AND THE TRANSNATIONAL
2 Youth justice: European and international developments and (good) practices Frieder Dünkel	30
3 Prosecution in adversarial and inquisitorial procedures: the weakening of professional autonomy Jacqueline S. Hodgson	49
4 Systems of trial: towards convergence? Richard Vogler	66
5 The diffusion of plea bargaining and the global administratisation of criminal convictions Máximo Langer	84
6 The Nordic exceptionalism thesis revisited John Pratt	109
7 Theorising global penal change Ely Aaronson	126
8 Making sense in cross-cultural research in criminal justice: some reflections on theory and method Stewart Field	141
PART III MAPPING THE DARK SIDE OF GLOBALISATION
9 Transnational policing, crime and justice James Sheptycki	155
10 Surveillance, police, and quarantining COVID-19 in Canada and Australia Randy K. Lippert and Adam Molnar	175

11	Towards convergence? Comparative counter-terrorism and the ‘transnational counter-terrorism order’ Claire Hamilton	192
12	Criminology of the borderlands Maartje van der Woude	207
13	Money laundering Michael Levi	225
14	Cybercrime Stefano Caneppele and Amandine da Silva	243
15	Personalising comparison in international criminal law Nicola Palmer	261
PART IV SPREADING UNIVERSAL STANDARDS
16	Criminology and human rights Marinella Marmo and Elaine Fishwick	274
17	Capital punishment in comparative perspective David T. Johnson	289
18	Globalisation, gender and crime Rosemary Barberet	304
19	Green criminology, environmental harms and eco-justice Rob White	315
20	Decolonising comparative criminology Chris Cunneen	332
21	Comparative criminal justice as a social practice: the case of standardising indicators David Nelken	348
22	Comparative criminology in the time of algorithmic knowledge: the challenges of global comparison Dvir Yogev and Yoav Mehozay	365
	Index	383