

STOCKHOLM JUNE 10–12, 2024

The Stockholm Criminology Symposium

The Stockholm Criminology Symposium takes place June 10–12, 2024 and the main theme is Trust and legitimacy in the work to combat crime.

REGISTER NOW

Program now available

This year's extensive program features an impressive 250 speakers who over the course of three full days, in 70 sessions, will present their research and share their experience. Do not miss the chance to listen to the prize winners' lecture with the 2024 winners of the Stockholm Prize in Criminology, professor Gary LaFree, University of Maryland and professor Tom R. Tyler, Yale University. The Jerry Lee Lecture, named in honor of the initial donor of the prize, will this year be delivered by Professor Alex R. Piquero, University of Miami.

Wednesday, the last day of the symposium, will continue until 16:15 hours and on this day lunch as well as afternoon refreshments will be served complimentary to all delegates.

Read the full program

The Jerry Lee Lecture

This year's Jerry Lee Lecture will be given by Professor Alex R. Piquero of the Department of Sociology & Criminology and Arts & Sciences Distinguished Scholar at the University of Miami. His presentation "But first there was citrus fruit, a naval ship, and scurvy: Successes and challenges using scientific research to inform criminal justice policy decisions" will be held on Wednesday, June 12 at 11:00.

Most recently, Dr. Piquero served as the Director of the Bureau of Justice Statistics, one of the nation's thirteen federal statistical agencies (appointed by President Biden, June 2022). During his Directorship of BJS, he oversaw a budget of over $90 million dollars, including several dozens of data collections on various crime and justice topics including police-citizen contacts, and worked hand-in-hand with a dedicated team of over fifty persons. He started several new data collections, initiated new publication mediums, engaged in several inter-agency collaborations, elevated and promoted exceptionally qualified women and persons of color to leadership positions, spoke at the White House on the importance of Hispanic educational excellence, and co-wrote a report to President Biden on criminal justice and policing statistics about the importance of disaggregated data.

Read more about Professor Alex R. Piquero

Registration deadline

Do not miss the chance to network and to learn from the latest research findings of importance for crime policy. Last day to register is May 15.

The registration fee includes access to the scientific program, coffee breaks, welcome reception on Monday June 10 and the prize award ceremony on the evening of Tuesday June 11. Please note that the prize award gala dinner is not included in the registration fee. If you would like to attend the gala dinner you need to buy a separate ticket.

Register now

