

Estelle Zinsstag /May 15, 2024 / Invitation

-
Dear colleagues,

I hope you are all well.

The Restorative Justice Working Group of the European Society of Criminology is now accepting nominations for our annual Best Paper Prize.

We're on the lookout for outstanding international peer-reviewed journal articles written on the topic of restorative justice in English published since January 2023 until 1 May 2024.

 Deadline: June 3rd

 Prize Announcement: At the conference

To nominate, please email your submissions to both Estelle Zinsstag (estelle.zinsstag@kuleuven.be) and Kerry Clamp (kerry.clamp@nottingham.ac.uk).

Our scientific committee will rigorously review all nominated papers and select the most original, rigorous and methodologically sound contribution to restorative justice scholarship.

Join us in recognizing excellence in research in our community!

All the best,
Kerry and Estelle

Dr Estelle Zinsstag FHEA

Lecturer in Criminology / School of Applied Sciences / Edinburgh Napier University, UK
Researcher / Scottish Centre for Crime and Justice Research

Associate Researcher
. Centre for Criminology / University of Oxford, UK
. Leuven Institute of Criminology / University of Leuven (KU Leuven), Belgium

Co-Editor in Chief
. 'The International Journal of Restorative Justice' (TIJRJ)
. Book series 'Studies in Restorative Justice' by Eleven International Publishing

Co-Chair
. ESC Working Group on Restorative Justice
. Scottish Network of Restorative Justice Researchers (SNRJR)

e.zinsstag@napier.ac.uk
estelle.zinsstag@crim.ox.ac.uk
estelle.zinsstag@kuleuven.be

NEW PUBLICATIONS:

Shapland, J., Buchan, J., Kirkwood, S. & Zinsstag, E. (2023) 'Mitigating risk in restorative justice' in The International Journal of Restorative Justice, online first.
DOI: 10.5553/TIJRJ.000176

Keenan, M & Zinsstag, E (2022) Sexual Violence and Restorative Justice: Addressing the Justice Gap. Oxford University Press